

UK HOUSING MARKET INSIGHTS (2023 – 2024)

Presented by: The Cloud Analysts

Trainer: TIM MICAH-GRACE

Date: 13/07/2026

- First Time

Detached House

- Investor

Semi Detached House

- Upsizer

Terraced House

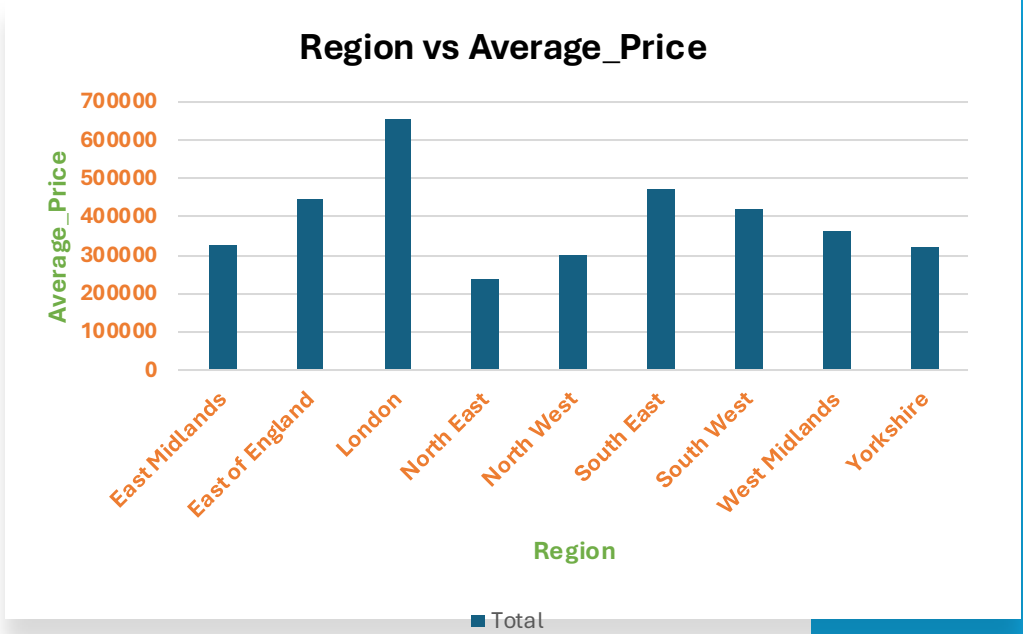

Flat House

Objectives:

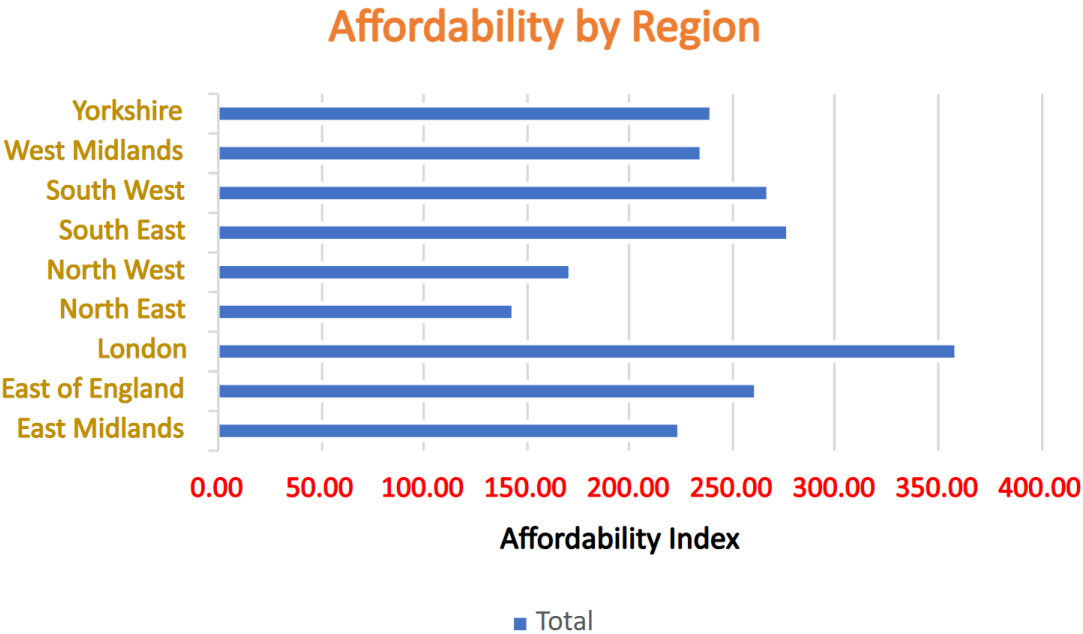

- Identify regions that are most affordable.
- Compare prices and sales across different property types.
- Analyse sales trends.
- Examine Mortgage affordability and buyer preferences.
- Investigate the impact of energy on property Values.
- Identify regions with the greatest investment potential.
- Conclusion.
- Recommendations.

House prices per Region and Affordability

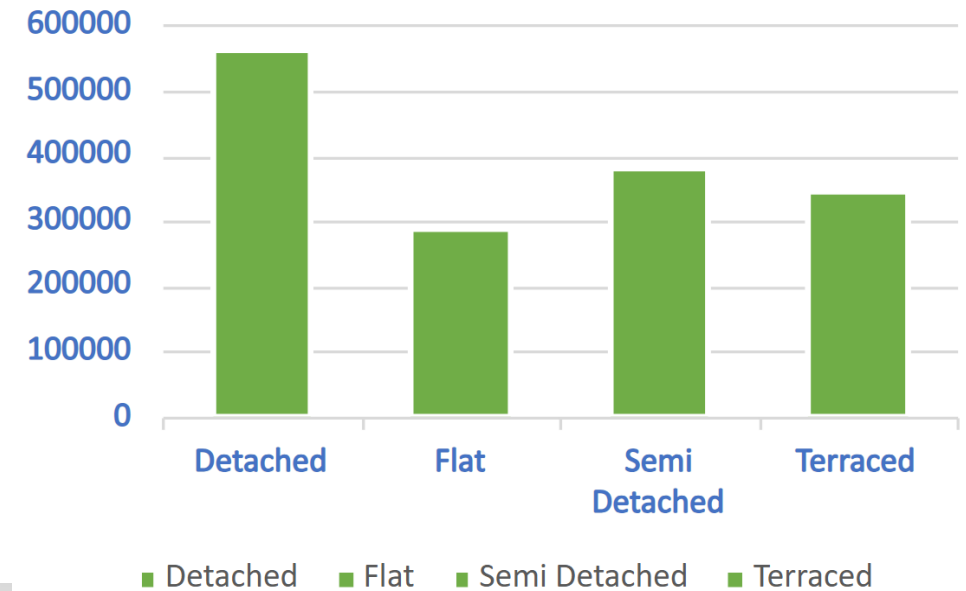

- ❖ Nort-East, North-West, and East Midlands are the most affordable regions.
- ❖ London, South-East, and South-West are the least affordable regions.

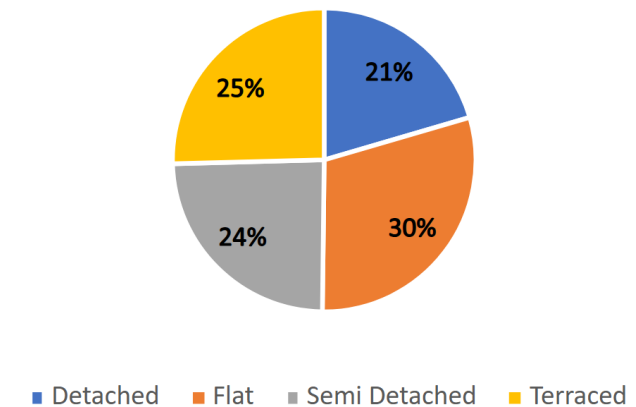

Property-type prices and sales volume

- Flats are the most affordable and are most purchased property.
- Semi Detached and Terraced count for around quarter of sales.
- Detached houses have the highest average price, but the smallest sales volume share.

Property_type vs Average_Price

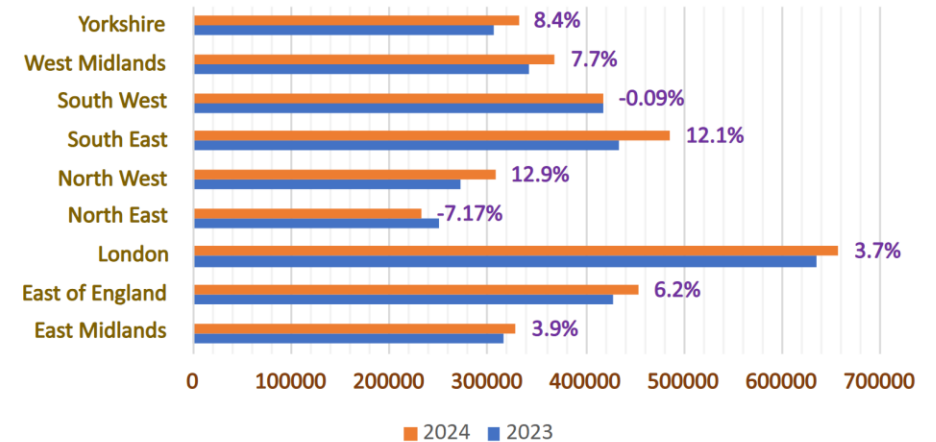

Average of Sales_Volume vs Property_type

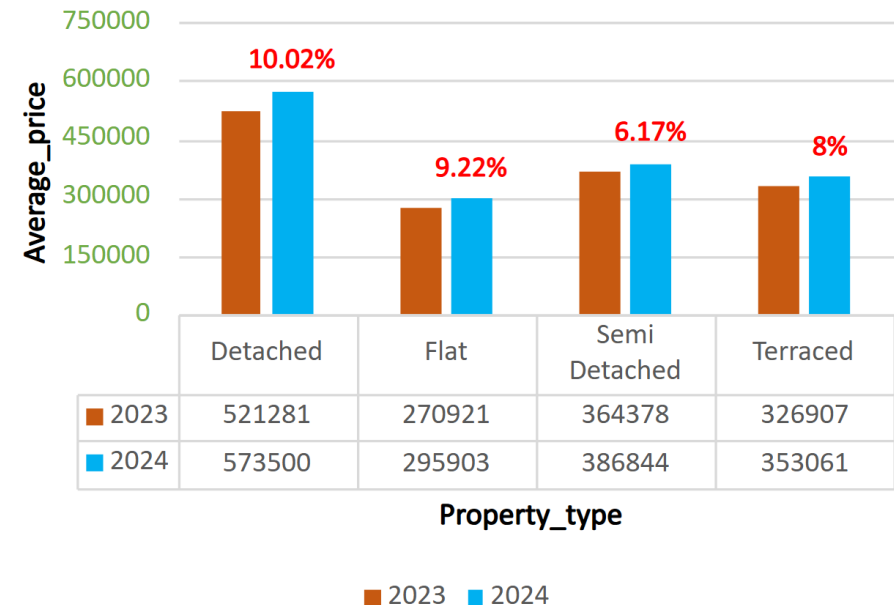

Regional Price trends and houses growth rate (2023 – 2024)

- House prices grew the most in the North-West, South-East, and Yorkshire.
- The North-East recorded negative growth, whereas the South-West showed little change.
- House prices increased across all property types, indicating overall market growth.
- Detached houses continued to command the highest prices, whereas flats remained the most affordable option.

Region vs Average_Price vs Year

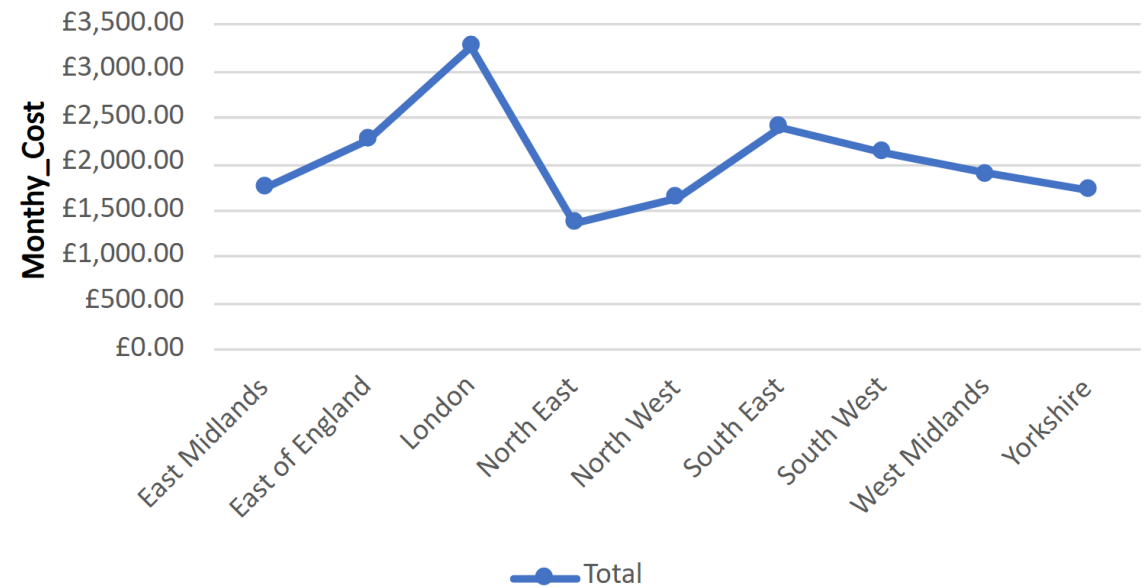

Property_type growth rate (2023 - 2024)

Mortgage affordability

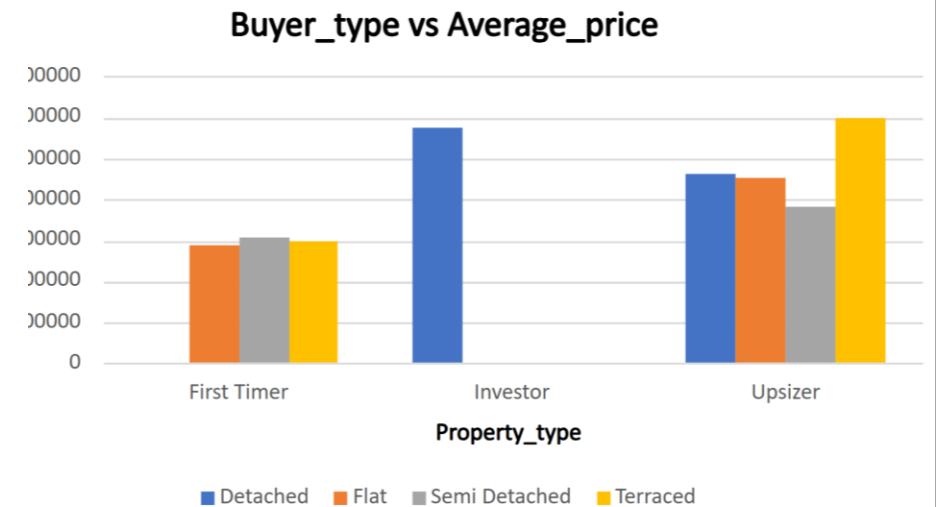

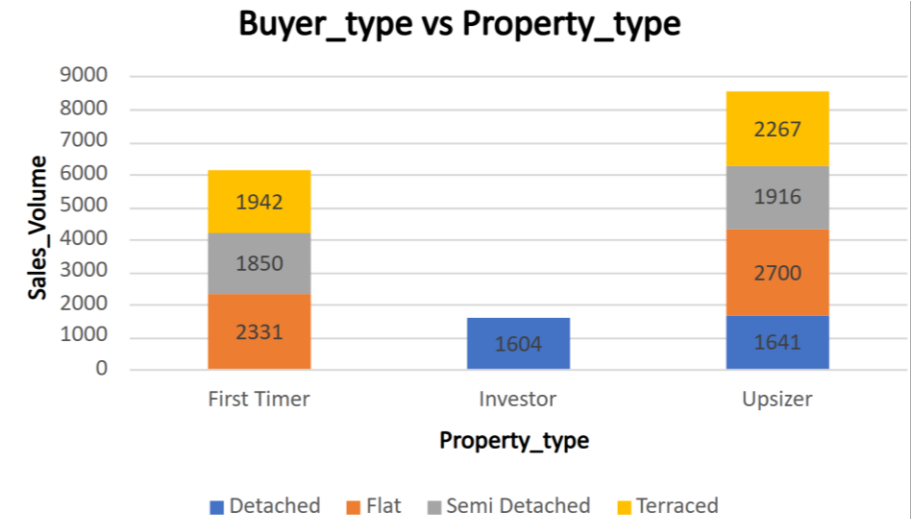

- ✓ The South of England has the greatest affordability pressure.
- ✓ Northern regions offer better mortgage affordability.
- ✓ Buyers in the North-East could face mortgage payments almost 60% lower than buyers in London.

Monthly_Mortgage_Cost vs Region

Buyer Segmentation vs Different Housing Preferences

- Upsizers were the most active buyers across all property types.
 - They dominated purchases of detached houses and flats, indicating diverse housing preferences.
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
- Investors purchased the highest-value properties, primarily detached homes.
 - First-time buyers purchased the least expensive properties, while upsizers bought higher-value homes.

Energy Rating, Property prices and sales volume

- A-rated properties have the highest average price
- D-rated properties are the least expensive with the highest sales volume.
- B-rated properties have high average price, but are least sold compare to A-rated properties.
- Properties with the highest average value have the lowest rating.

Energy_Rating vs Average_price vs Sales_volume

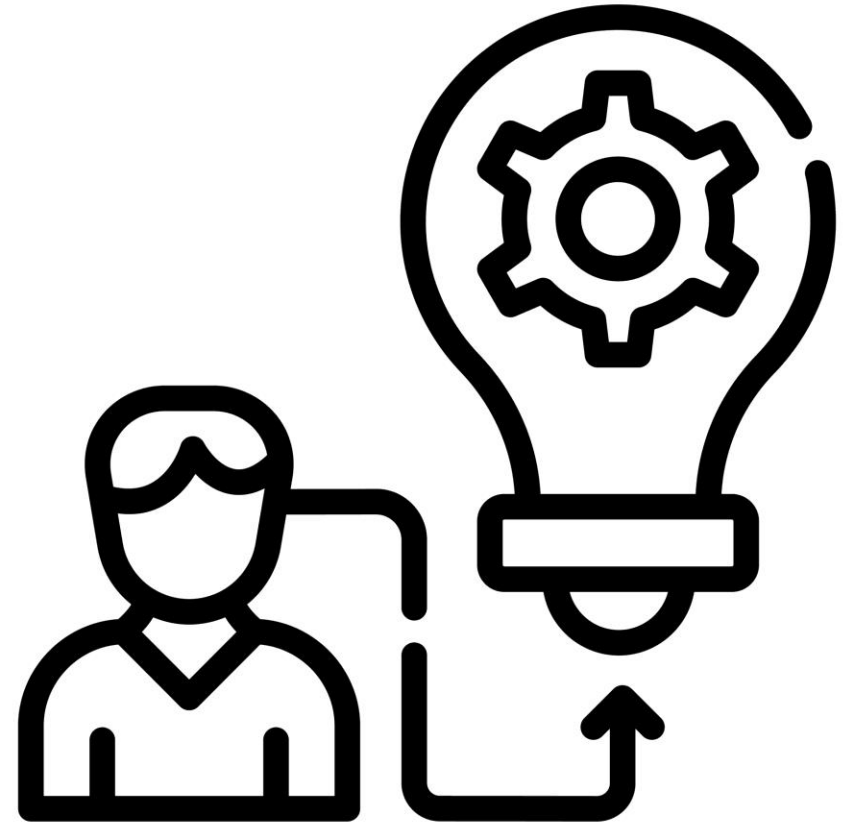

Regional Investment Potential Score

- ✓ London has the Highest average investment score.
- ✓ The North-West and South-East ranked second and third.
- ✓ East of England and North-East ranked the fourth and fifth average investment score.

Conclusion

- UK house prices increased by 11.21% between 2023 and 2024.
- The North-East was the most affordable region, while London was the least affordable.
- Flats were the cheapest and most purchased, whereas detached houses were the most expensive and least purchased.
- First-time buyers favoured flats, upsizers bought across all property types, and investors preferred detached homes.
- Higher energy ratings were associated with higher property prices.
- The North-West, South-East, and London showed strong investment potential.

Recommendations

- ✓ Focus investment on high-growth and affordable regions.
- ✓ Invest in energy-efficient housing developments.
- ✓ Improve first-time buyer support and tailor mortgage products to regional affordability, encouraging sustainable and balanced market growth

RECOMMENDATIONS

Questions

Remarks

Suggestions